

HEMPTECH IRELAND

Growing hemp in an irish climate

Cultivating a Sensible Future

Hemp can build a resilient, circular economy.

Hemp isn't just a crop - it's a pathway to economic independence, environmental sustainability, and long-term prosperity for Ireland

www.thehempfarm.ie

hemptechireland@gmail.com

“Knock-Knock”

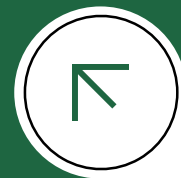

Ireland: The Perfect Place to grow Hemp

When we grow barley, we get some of the highest yields in the world. When we grow grass, we're among the best at it. And when we grow hemp—guess what? We're great at that too!

8.7 t/Ha

Barley

Barley: In 2023, Ireland's average barley yield was 8.7 tonnes per hectare (t/ha), slightly below its five-year average.

Globally, the average barley yield in 2022 was approximately 3.1 t/ha.

8.3 t/Ha

Oats

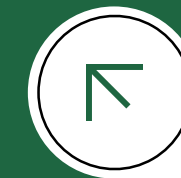

Oats: Ireland's average oat yield in 2023 was 8.3 t/ha, below the five-year average of 8.8 t/ha.

Worldwide, the average oat yield in 2022 was about 2.6 t/ha.

4.4 t/Ha

Oil seed Rape

Oilseed Rape: The average yield for winter oilseed rape in Ireland in 2023 was 4.4 t/ha, slightly below the five-year average of 4.6 t/ha.

Globally, oilseed rape yields vary by country, with leading producers like Chile achieving 3.82 t/ha, while other countries have lower averages.

1t/Ha

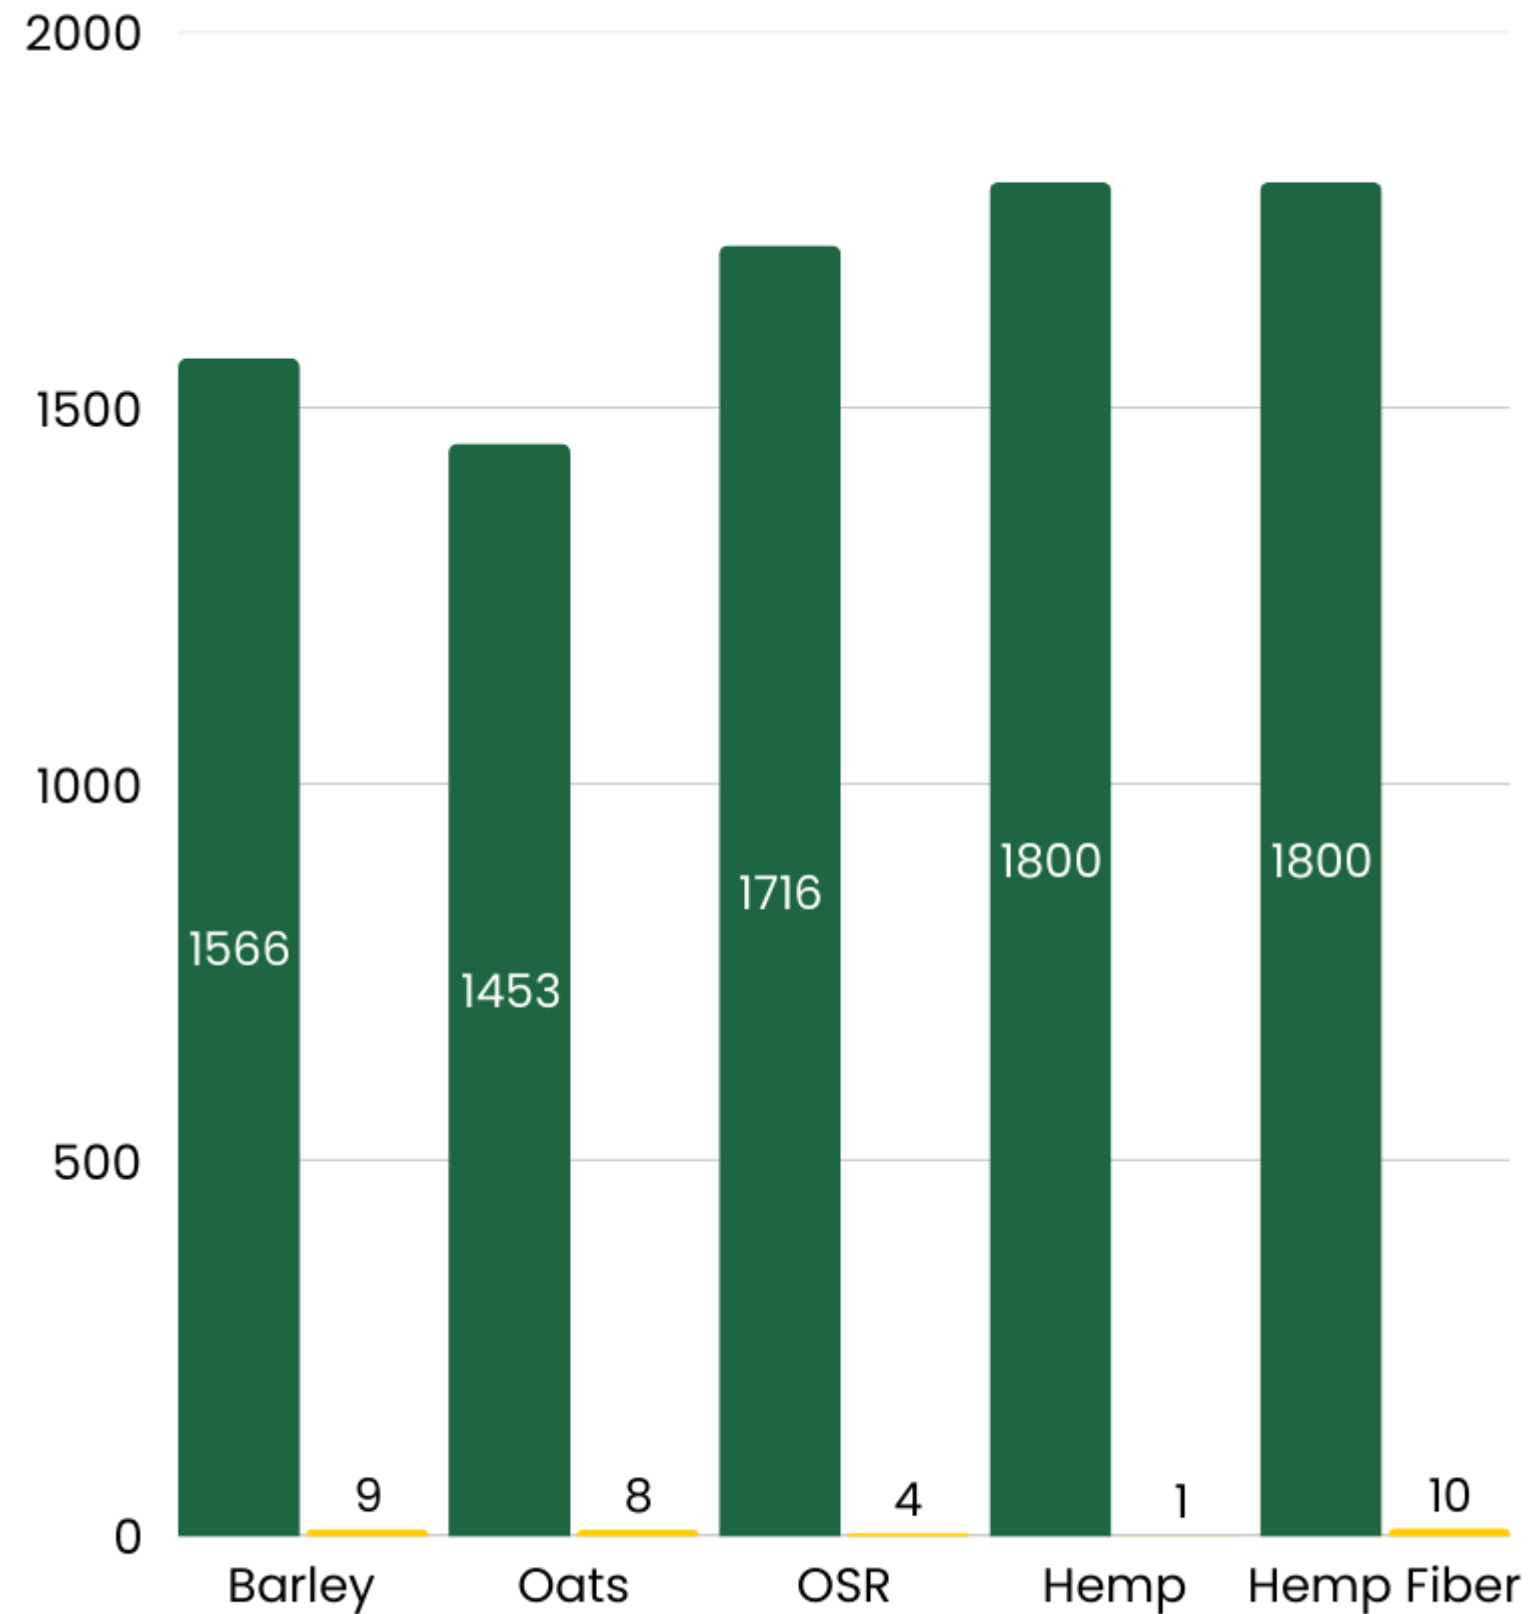

Hemp Seed

Hemp: Ireland's average hemp seed yield in 2022 was 1t/ha.

Hemp Fiber

Hemp: Ireland's average hemp seed yield in 2022 was 1t/ha.

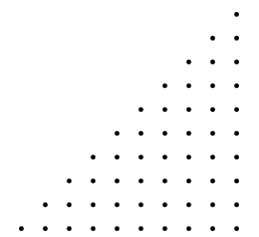

Money Yield

No guaranteed price
= No hemp industry

Hemp Seed avg €1800/ton

Hemp Fiber avg €180/ton

Price per Ha

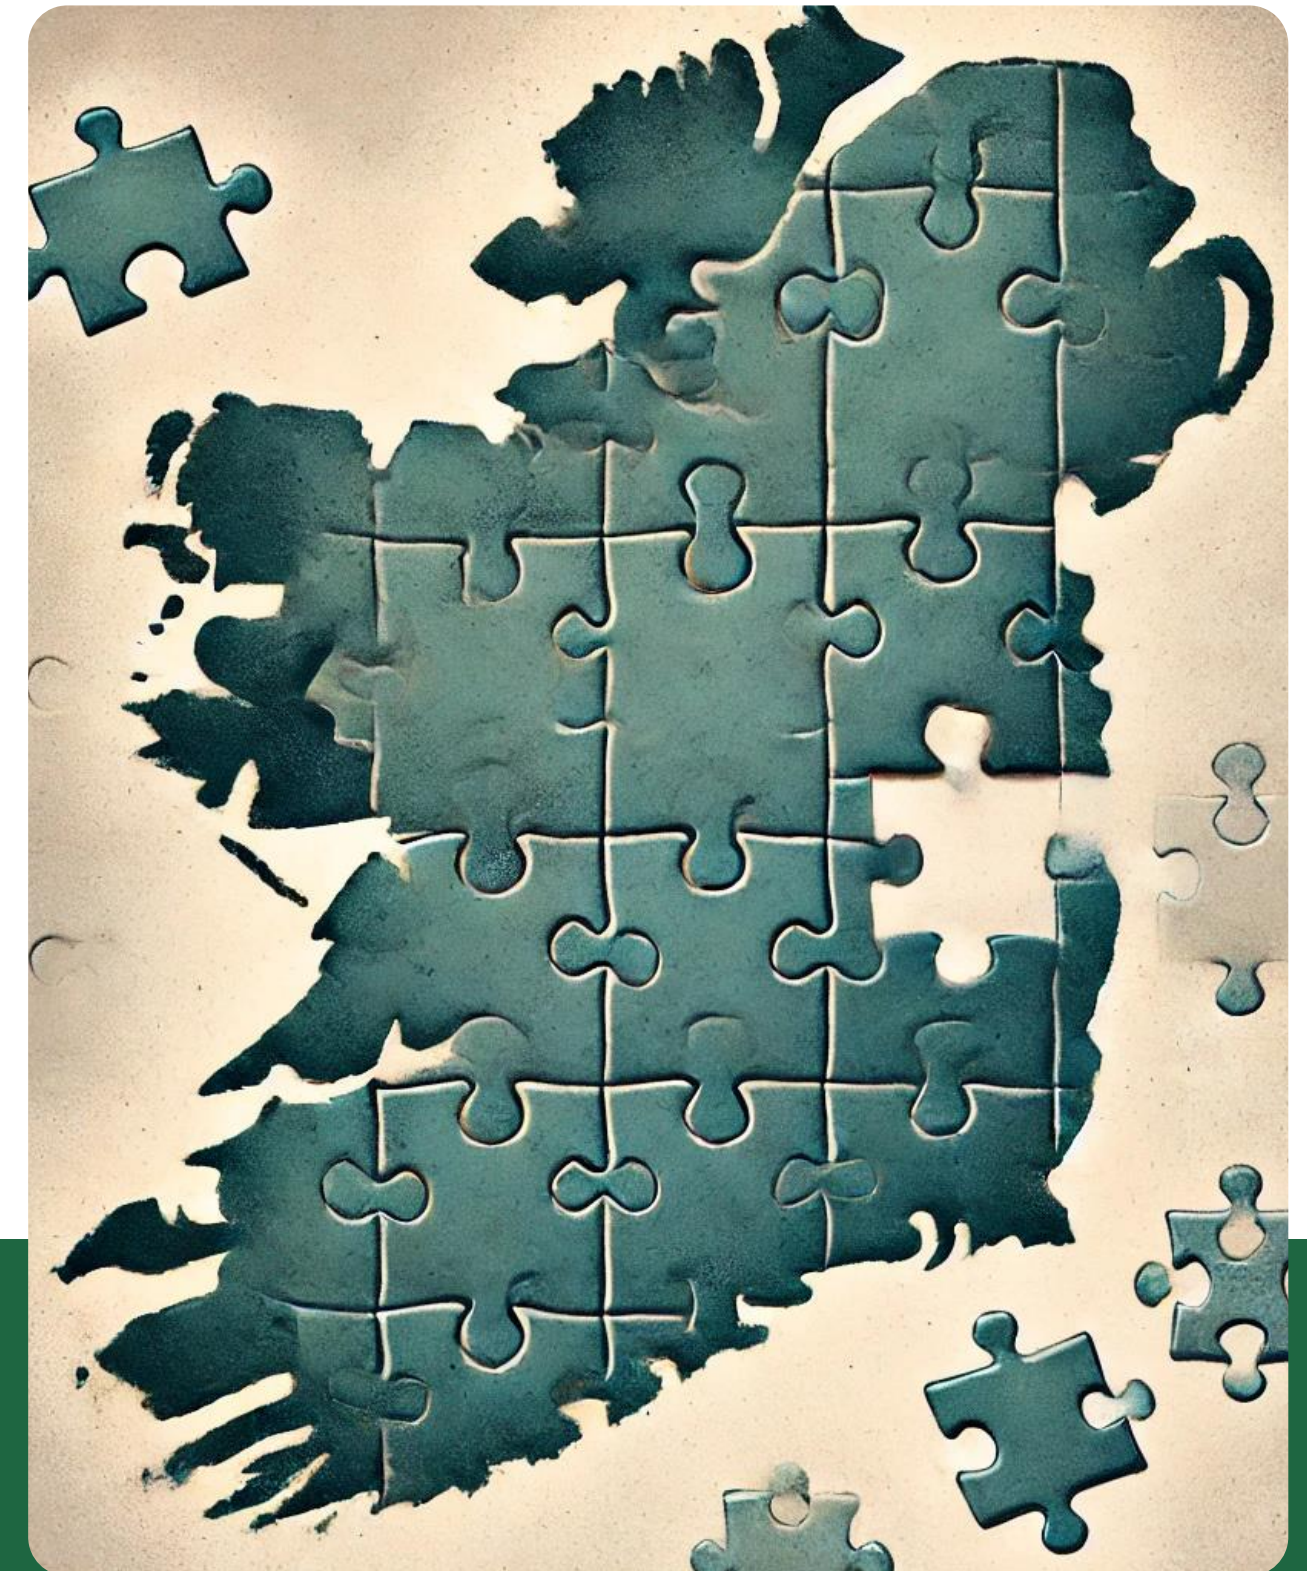

The Missing Piece

No Processing Infrastructure

“

We don't have the processing facilities. A farmer can grow the best hemp in Ireland, but if there's nowhere to process it, what's the point?

€8–20 BILLION in EU carbon fines by 2030

A fraction of that to fund our hemp industry.

We need €100M. We need 10 years.

We need action. No more talking

I don't want to tell the same joke over and over again.

Thank You

Thank you for listening, and I hope that you feel inspired to take action

website
www.thehempfarm.ie

Mail
hemptechireland@gmail.com

Location
Wicklow